WILLIAMS' APPOINTMENTS.

The Hon. Charles G. Williams will address Republican meetings as follows: Elkhorn, Thursday, October 10. Barlington, Friday, October 20 Ex-Governor Lucius Fairchild and General Ed. E. Bryant will speak at Geneva, Saturday, October 28. Raciae, Monday, October 30. Whitewater, Tuesday, October 31.

The milk in the cocoanut is explained by the Evening Wisconsin as follows: "Philo A. Orton, of Darlington, is writing editorials for the local paper there during the Hazelton-Keyes campaign. Judge Orton joined the republican party a few mouths ago; his father-in-law is postmaster of Darlington and he was the chairman of the Hazelton convention."

The Madison Democrat, which has so much to say against the State Journal for supporting Mr Keyes as agains, Hazelton, and which has been free in calling that paper a bolter, has itself bolted a good democratic nomination. It has belted the nomination of Congressman Deuster, of Milwankee. A paper cannot be far from the kingdom when it refuses to support such a democrat as Mr. Deuster.

One of the most weighty reasons why every republican should vote the straight republican ticket, and especially for the congressional ticket, is that the Fortyeighth congress will count the electoral votes and pass on the returns for the next presidental election. If congress should be democratic beyond a doubt, the democrats will have the control of the grand returning bound of the nation and with half an opportunity will count in a democrat. This is a point which is all-important and should be carefully considered by every republican

Can it be that Racine county is to become "the residence of ingrates and political assassins?" The Journal should wake up to the importance of the situation, bend every energy to arouse the republicans to action, that there may be no loss in that county. Every republican vote is needed this fall, not that there is any manner of doubt as to Mr. Williams' election, but that the republican vote in every county may represent the united strength of the party. The republicans of Racine should join hands with the republicans of Rock in coming to the front with a solid vote for Mr Williams.

The catalogue of the state university will soon be issued, and from advance sheets it appears that the number of students in the different classes is as follows: Resident graduates 5; Senior class, auciouts 10, modern 22, scientifics 9, civil engineers 5, mechanical ongineers 3, agricultural stalents 2-51; junior class, ancients 15, modern 15, scientifies 8, civil engineers 3, mechanical engineers 4-45; sophmore class, ancients 11 moderns 18, scientifics S, civil engineers 6, mechanical engineers 8, mining engineers 2, agricultural students 2-56; freshman class, ancients 9, modern 10, scientifics 32, agri-cultural students 3-53; special students, 104; total in college 314; law students, seniors 28, juniors 20-48; preparatory Greek class, 5; total, 367.

Miss L. Adler, of Chicago, has written a fine allegory of how Duplicity and Frand got into the ark at the time of the flood, the allegory being published in the Chicago Evening Journal of Saturday. The manner in which they secured an entrance into the ark, their mode of operation when they got in, may very aply be applied to an indedendent political movement now-adays to get the democratic party in power. Beware of everything that is not purely republican and substantially honest. There is a good deal of mischief wrought under the device of what is called independent political movements. They profess to be above either party in spirit and aim, but in reality they are organized and pushed forward in the interest of the democratic party. Let no republican be seduced by an attempt to weaken the power of the republican party and bring it under the heels of the democratic party.

The Milwaukee republicans were certainly controlled by a spirit of reform when they adopted the platform on which General Winkler was nominated for congress. The Republican-Sentinel's cup of joy is full and running over on account of the platform which the republicans adopted. It says, speaking of Gencral Winkler:

He stands on the best platform that has ever been adopted by any party in this country. It is a platform made up of the living issues of the day—an antibossism, a civil service reform platform. The republicans of this district have man and principles that fit one another. Everything the platform sustains General Winkler represents. Economy in the public expenditures, reduction in taxation, opposition to wasteful river and harbor appropriations, anti-Hubbelism everything which the most unselfish republican advocates, General Winkler be-

Thus is in spirit and almost in word, the platform which the Gazette adopted at the outset in the campaign. It has the true republican ring in it, and yet the Republican-Sentinel condemned the Gazette for speaking unkindly of the river and harbor extravagance.

The North American Review for November presents an unusually diversified table of contents. "English views of Free Trade," by the Hon. John Welsh, of Philadelphia, is a clear and forcible exposition of the difference between the economic situation of England and that of the United States, and of the considerations which make free trade imperative for the former country, if she would retain her present position as the world's workshop. Joseph Neilson, chief judge of the Brooklyn city court, writes of "Disorder in Court Rooms," a subject of profound interest to good citizens at all times, and more especially now in view of certain recent occurences. Dr. Wm-A. Hammond, ex-surgeon-general of the U. S. Army, offers "A Problem for Sociologists," the problem being to determine the degree of responsibility before the criminal law, of persons affected by certain forms of insanity. "The Industrial Value of Woman," by Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, is a very able reply to an article recently published on "Woman" Work and Woman's Wages." "Advans tages of the Jury System, by Dwight Foster, for merly a justice of the Massachusetts supreme court, will command the attention of every thoughtful citizen being a grave and learned defense of an institution which it is becoming the fashion to belittle and decry. The remaining articles are, "Safety in Theatres," by Steele Mackaye, the distinguished actor and theatrical manager; "The Pretonsions of Journalism," by Rev. Geo. T. Rider; and a symposium on "The Suppression of Vice," by Anthony Comstock, O. B. Frothingham and Rev. J. M. Buck-

The Milwankee Republican-Sentinel in discussing the war record of John Winans, says: "Wo doubt if there is as much interest in Mr. Winans' war record as his friends seem to think. We do not imagine he will lose many votes on account of not having a patriotic war record." It then goes on to ridicule the pa triotism of Mr. Winans, and in connecmaking some good points, throws a little humor in the business.

Probably at this late date it matters but little whether Mr. Winans threw up his hat very high for the union, whether he showered flattery on the flag and the eagle, or whether he presided at a meeting which was called to save himself and other stay-at homes "from the dire calamity of a draft." But it does matter a great deal even after a lapse of twenty years, whother a man belonged to that party which was known to sympathize with rebellion, or whether he belonged to the party which was fighting to crush rebelli on. It might not make so much difference if the whole spirit of the democratic party had changed, and no longer showed signs of sympathy with the south. ern hatred of the north and southern bul!dozing and fraud and violence. Even today, after nearly twenty years, we do not find that the democratic party has lost its sympathy for the old cause. As a party, but of course there are a few honorable exceptions, it is the same old party, with the same spirit and the same purposes, and it seems that time will not be long enough in which it can make a change.

The best point against Mr. Winans is that he represents that party; that he is an intense partisan; that he never gave signs of repentence; and that the welfare of the country and every material uterest it possesses dethat the democratic party shall not gain the controlling power of the legislative department of the government. The democratic party can't be trusted. It has been tried and as often as tried it has failed. Politically it is a delusion and a snare, and because of this, no republican can consistently vote for Mr. Winans who is a faithful representative of his party.

In Philadelphia a man who had a family of ten children came to me and wanted to borrow fifteen dollars. I said wanted to borrow inteen dollars. I said to him: "I will not loan you fifteen dollars, but I will give you fifteen dollars provided you will open a news-stand and support yourself. I know just where I can get a position for you on the street for your news-stand, and I will give you the fifteen dollars if you will promise to expend it is the station of bigst busing to expend it in the starting of that business." He said he would take until the next day to think about it. On the morrow he came to me and thanked me for my kindness, but said that he concluded that it would not be a business worthy of him! "Well," I said, "now please don't bother me any more, for I have work. Good morning!"—Sunday Magazine.

THE LIQUOR INTEREST.

Meeting of the National Protective Association at Milwankee.

A Combined Opposition to be Made Against Temperance Legislation.

MELWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 19.-The National Protective association began its session hore yesterday, in West Side Turner hall, the meeting having been postponed from last wook. The ive committee appointed at Chicago, and there is scarcely a city or town in the union where the call and pamphlets have not been sent, the design being to reach every liquor dealer and manufacturer in the United States. With the pumphlets were mailed circulars urging the formation of local and state associations. This advice has been quite generally followed, and a very large attendance is a result to-day. The numerical strength of the association consists of the salcon-keepers, while the browers, distillers and wholesale wine and liquor dealers all over the country form a by no means insignificant element, as they possess the shows of war. They have a common object in view—anti-prohibition. There are represented in the delegations present all the state and many local liquor associations, also the National Brewers' association and the National Wine and Spirit Dealers' association, which are largely represented. They will unite for the purpose of counteracting efforts for temperance legislation. It is claimed there are 200,000 beer, wine and spirit dealers in the United States, with a combined capital of $120,000,000. Congressman Douster delivered an address of welcome. design being to reach every liquor dealer of welcome.

H. Rubons, a delegate from Chicago, thon made a motion to exclude all outsiders, including the press reporters, which after discussion prevailed, and a guard was placed at the doors. The proceedings of the secret session resulted in electing Frank R. Falk, of Milwankee, chairman; August Timm, of Illinois, and J. H. Roth, of Misscuri, sooretaries. All the states in the union are represented except three, among which is Indiana, which telegraphs that the organization there is just being effected.

In the secret afternoon session the committee on organization recommended that the name of the association be changed to the Personal Liberty league of the United States, to be composed of the various state protective associations and of the National Brewers' and Distillers' association, the management to be in the hands of an executive committee, one from each state, one from the Distillers' and one from the Brewers' association, the annual dues to be $250 for each state society, and $150 for each society in the territories. The committee on resolutions reported the following:

"Whereas, The Prohibition party has for the few last years entered upon an aggressive warwhoreas, the Promotion party has for the few last years entered upon an aggressive warfaire against the cause of personal freedom, and has succeeded by hostile legislation in some states in passing laws violating the principle of personal liberty, destroying legislantic business, and injurious to the productive industries and commercial interests of the poonless and

BURNS' FAREWELL.

He Died as He Wanted To, In His Sweetheart's Arms.

ESTILIVILLE, Va., Oct. 19.-Last evening John Burns, of Scott county, went to see Miss Robocca Turnor, with whom he was in love. He had been drinking, and it is supposed that he was slightly under the influence of liquer at the time. He had a revolver in his vest pocket, and it is said Miss Turner happened to lot hor handkerchief fall on the floor, when Burns gallantly stooped to pick it up. Being unsteady in his movements, the pistol foll from his pocket to the floor and exploded. The ball struck him just about the right nipple, and passing into the region of the heart ln-flicted a wound from which he died in a few flicted a wound from which he died in a few minutes.

Miss Turner hastily raised the bleeding form of her lover to the sefa, and started to rush for a physician, but he called her back, saying that he was conscious that he could live but a few minutes. He asked her to put her arm around his neck. The weeping woman fid so, and Burns breathed his last in his sweetheart's arms, and told her that was the way he had wished to die. When members of her family, attracted by a piercing shrick, rushed to the room they found Burns dead on the sofe and Miss Turner lying in a sween over his body, her face and halr bathed in the blood which flowed from his wound.

The Secretary of the Michigan University Guilty of Embezzlement. DETROIT, Mich., Oct 19.—Henry D. Bennott secretary and steward of the Michigan university, recently accused of collecting $330.61, which he had not paid into the treasury, confessed to the regents that he had taken the money, put it in a bank to his own credit, and afterwards drew it out and forgot to pay it afterwards drew it out and forgot to pay it into the treasury. The regents were astonished, and left the matter in the hands of the exceutive committee, who heard the argument of President Angoll on behalf of Bennett, and finally decided to have a meeting of the full board about the middle of November. Efforts made to bush the matter up have given rise to exaggerated reports, stating that thousands of dollars have been embezzled by Bennett, but the facts are as stated.

Mexico Inviting lumigration. Sr. Louis, Oct. 19.—There is an active im migration of laboring people into Mexico. The Italian colonists are represented as well satisfied with the government's provisions for their comfort, and 500 more families are expected to arrive shortly. Arrangements have been com-pleted by parties in Oaknez to bring GOD fami-lies from the Canary islands to settle on state

The De Panw Endowment. INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—The trustees of Asbury university met at Meridian Street church. A paper was formally presented containing the proposal of Mr. De Pauw to donate a large sum of money to Asbury upon certain conditions. The proposition originally came from the trustees to Mr. De Pauw, who named certain provises, which were to-day accepted by the proceed at once to the raising of the $150,000 required of them. The trustees regard it as only fair that if Mr. De Pauw makes the institution a university indeed, it should bear his name. Asbury literary college will remain, of course, unchanged in name.

SANITARY,

Second Day's Proceedings of the American Public Health

Association.

Interesting Discussion of a Paper on the Texas Cattle Fever, Etc.

Indianaports, Ind., Oct. 18 -- The American Public Health association metagain this morn ing, with President Kedzie in the chair. A paper by Dr. Joseph R. Smith, medical director of the department of Texas, was read by Dr. J. H. Ranch, secretary of the fillinois State Board of Health. It gave the results of the observations in regard to the relative size of the liver and spleen, and the normal temperature in Texas cattle.

In a discussion of the paper Drs. Ryan, of Texas, and Runt, of New Jersey, expressed the opinion that the Texas cattle fover was a disease that developed when the animals were removed from their native state to other elimates, and said that the study of the conditions of its development was most important ascertaining the means of preventing that and in the interest of seience, and as a means of ascertaining the means of preventing that and other similar diseases.

Dr. Elisha Harris, of New York, especially urged that the fullest investigation of the pathology and etiology of such diseases be promptly made, and his name, with that of Dr. J. R. Smith, was added to the sauding committee on cattle diseases.

Dr. E. E. Holman, of Chicago, read a paper on stock transportation, in which he gave starting instances of the cruelty practiced upon cattle and logs during their long journey from the west to the eastern markets. He said there was a habit of salting cattle before they started, and then leaving them one hundred hours without water, the owners believing the absence of water in the anima. would compensate for the disadvantages resulting from the horrible crueity practiced.

Dr. T. P. Wilson, of Ann Arbor, read a paper on "Life on Whoels," estimating that there were constantly a million and a half of poople traveling on railreads, besides those employed on the lines. He was convinced that more attention should be given to the hygionic needs of railway travelers, and thoughts most of the managers would be thankful for suggestions from the association. The absence of fresh air, of facilities for equable temperature and of pure water he cited as points demanding immediate attention.

The maxipaper was by Hon. Reastes Brooks, of New York, and read by Dr. Elisha Harris, It described the board of health system of New York state.

TILDEN'S MANSION.

New York, Oct. 19.—Samuel J. Tilden has had his old residence on Gramercy park and a building next door thrown into one and mossmorphosed into the most elegant mansion, excopt Stewart's and the Vanderbitt houses, in the metropolis. When it is finished it will have cost more than either of them. Its double pile of three-story bay windows, capped with a bronze rail, its gables and its carved chimney pols stand out in proud display. It is not of any set school of design. Mr. Tilden was in a great measure his own architect. Ho wanted two things especially—a front of his own choice and a library that should not have its equal on the continent. The front is alive with carving—vases, flowers, wreaths and tracery follow the door and window frames, enrich the ashlar courses, hide the sills and lintels, and run along even the stoop rails and balaster posts. Between the bay windows in as many niches are life-size heads of Milten, Franklin, Shakespeare, Goethe and Dante. The main entrance—for there are two, one to each of the original houses—is a wonderful affair. Heavy columns of polished granite support a great perch of lavishly carve brownstane, from each side of which protrudes an ideal figure representing one of the seasons.

On one side of the double mansion is the library a hall sixty feet long and a third as wide, the house half of whose wells is hid behind carved rosewood bookcases that are to contain the thousands of volumes which go to make up the most valuable collection of legal and historical works and one of the most extensive private libraries in the states. The room that is most admired is the dining-hall, which is left just at it was before the other parts of the houses were remodeled. The ceiling is formed by a blue-and-gold canopy, which has for a centre-piece a miracle of carving in sandal wood, wherein flowers, leaves, reptiles, insects, birds and animals are heaped and taugled indescribably. Behind and between all these objects is a ground of gold that produces a startlingly beautiful effect. The hall is palatial. Its walls are of polished granition and sand stone, lettered with carving. The cleavator, which is of carved sandal and rose woods, cost $5,000. The improvements are to cost $5,000. own choice and a library that should not have its equal on the continent. The Arlington Cemetery. Washington, Oct. 19.-The case involving the title to the Arlington estate, in which the Arlington cometery is located, is now under argument in the United States supremo court. Some of the best lawyers who have studied it are of the opinion that who have studied it are or the opinion that the United States supreme centr will sustain the decision of the court below, which affirms the decision of the court below, which affirms the title in the Lee estate. One of the main points in the case is that Secretary Standard Indianal to permit the representatives of Gen. Lee to tender money for the payment of the direct tax, for the failure to pay which the land was sold, and through which sale the government securos its only title. Secretary Stanton maintained that a poled could not be permitted to tender the money by proxy, and as owners of the exate did not appear in person, the money could not be received. The United States court in Virginia has decided that the proper tender was made, and has decided in favor of the claimants. It is not the purpose of the heirs of Gen. Lee to claim the estate, even if the supreme court shall decide in their favor. They design, however, to use a favorable judgment as the basis of a claim upon congress for payment to them of an equitable sum for the estate. They disclaim any purpose of ever attempting to interfere with the centercy, in which 15,000 Union cond lie buried. the United States supreme court will sustain

The New Platform of the Irish People.

Self-Government, a Peasant Proprietorship and Land Reform.

DUBLIN, Oct. 19.—The main features of the programme adopted by the Irish national conference as the basis of the new league are the declarations in favor of the peasant proprietorship proposed by Mr. Parnell, in favor of local self-government, and finally, in favor of certain land reforms which will abolish the special features of the English system, which tend to the creation of landed aristocracies. The platform in detail is as follows:

The platform in detail is as follows:

"1. Solf-government for the Irish people in the full American sense.

"2. Protection to Irish industries and government aid in every way possible for their development as a means for encouraging Irish agriculture by giving it a home market, of giving the state a strong body of artisans, and of making the state, as far as possible, independent of other nations.

"3. The creation of Irish peasant proprietor-ship, the state to advance the entire sums of many necessary to enable the peasants to purchase in fee their own lands, the money so advanced to be renayable to the state after sixty-three years in small payments yearly thereafter, with low interest on the balances.

"5. The transfer of the uncultivated lands of Iroland by compulsory purchase to county Iroland by compulsory purchase to county boards for reclamation, improvement and troined by computatory purchase to contry boards for reclamation, improvement and final sale to the peasantry.

"5. The abolition of the viceroyalty in Iroland and the substitution therefor of a system of local self-government, by which the various county boards of Ireland will perform for their respective counties all the local governmental functions necessary, and at present alleged to be under the viceregal system performed unjustly or inadequately by the royal underlings, either ignorant of the needs of the people or indifferent to them.

"6. Land-law reform in such a general and thorough way as will abolish entail primogeniture, and all the special features of the English system that go to features of the English system that go to feature for the fend title, and the creation of landed aristogracies. Increased taxes to be put on grass—lands, and all covenants against tilling to be declared void.

"7. The payment of the Irish party in the house of commons.

"8. The establishment of workingmen's clubs and reading rooms.

"9. The creation of a new league council with a central committee of forty-cight members, thirty-two for the counties and sixteen for the parliamentary parties."

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 10.—The regular annual session of the brotherhood of lecometive engineers convened in the council chambor at the city hall yesterday. hall was handsomely decorated, and there hall was handsomely decorated, and there were about 200 delegates present. The session was taken up in organizing. The only business of a public nature was the acceptance of the invitation of the Y. M. C. A., the invitation of the Louisvillo & Nashville comdany to visit Mammoth Cave, and an invitation to visit the government stores at Jetturesonville. Grand Chief P. M. Arthur presided. The meeting at the opera house in the afternoon was open to all and had a large attendance. The exercises consisted of an address of welcome by Mayor Jacobs, response by Arthur, singing, etc. thur, singing, etc.

Hair Turned White by Trouble. LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 19.-A most singular case has developed here, showing how a person's hair may change its color by reason of great trouble. The United States grand jury here has brought an indictment against A. B. Cornell, Charles S. Wyckoff and R. E. S. C. Foster, all of Russell county, for alleged star-route frauds, where contracts had been made and fraudulont bonds given, three indictments being brought in against Cornell and one each against thoothers, who furnished bail; but Cornell could not do this, and was placed in juil to await trial. From jot-black locks of a few weeks ago, his hair now presents an appearance as white as the driven snow. He was the editor of a Greenback paper in Russell county before he fell from grace. jury here has brought an indictment

The Comet. MADISON, Wis., Oct. 19.—Prof. E. S. Holden, director of Washburn observatory, estimates the length of the comet's tail to be 20,000 miles or one-half its longth before passing its porinclion. The comet is now practically the same distance from the earth as the sun, or abovt 95,000,000 miles, and is fast receding from the sun. The nucleus is split into three sections, the partition not being visible by an ordinary glass, but readily discernible by a telescope magnifying 100 diameters.

A Rich Actor. NEW YORK, Oct. 10 .- Mr. Wyndham, the comedian, who is now on his way from England to fill an engagement in this city, is one of the wealthiest actors in the world. From his appearances in a single play—"Pink Dominoes"—he is said to have received $300,000.

Yellow Fever.

At Pensacolic yesterday there were fifty-six new cases of yellow fever and three deaths. Brownsville reports one now case. Liberal contributions have been received in the former city during the past few days.

A Southern Chantaugus. CINCINNATI, Oct. 19.-Mount Eagle, Tent., has been selected as the site for the establishment of a southern Chautauqua, to be conducted on the broadest basis of biblical Chris-The Universalists PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—The general convention of Universalists assembled yesterday, delogates being in attendance from nearly 1,000 churches. President J. D. W. Joy, of Boston, was re-elected.

Jersey Cattle. Sr. Louis, Oct. 19 .- Fifty head of Jorsey cattle, bred by Gen. Guitar, of Missouri, were sold at auction here for from $30 to $715 each.

Dr. Susan Edson's Bill. WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The most extravagant chars . made for the care of the late president is that of Dr. Susan Edson, who has put in a bill for $10,000. Dr. Reyburn's charge is only $8,000 more, and, as Dr. Edson was disonly $8,000 more, and, as Dr. Edson was dismissed when the president was taken to Elberon, her charge per diem is higher than his, But Dr. Royburn is a physician of eminence, who was one of the four who had constant charge of the case. No matter how many degrees Mrs. Edson may have, she served only as musse, and for two months' nursing she asks $10,000, or at the rate of $60,000 a year. Dr. Bliss' charge of $25,000 for loss than three month's work is rather steep, but then he was the chief physician and gave up all his other practice. One hundred thousand dollars a year for a doctor is more reasonable than $60,000 for a nurse. The appropriation for the doctors was only $35,000, and the bills of Drs. Bliss, Agnew and Rey.

burn aggregate $50,500. Dr. Hamilton is not likely to charge loss than Dr. Agnew. A bill is expected from Dr. Boynton, but he was a friend of the family, who never had any official connection with the case, and may not send in a bill. Barnes and Woodward cannot get anything becames they are in the army, and must content themselves with their salaries.

"BOODLERS."

"Boodlers" Swindle Foolish Rural Knaves Out of $1,000,000 a Year.

Criminal Traffic Almost Beyond the Reach of the Authorities.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—The secret service division of the treasury department is in receipt of an unusual number of letters from various parts of the country reporting the operations of "boodle" swindlers and indicating a great activity among that class of sharpers. Chief Brooks says that this game is played on foolish people to an extent which would scarcely be believed were it not that an approximate idea of the amounts procured in this manner is judged from the roports of those who have been swindled, and who call upon the government to arrest the sharpers. It is estimated that nearly $1,000,000 a year change hands in this operation, half of which is credited to New

The supply of victims never fails, so deftly do those operators play upon the cupidity of those who are auxious to get rich by questionable means. Circulars in imitation of letters able means. Circulars in initation of letters are sent by thousands all over the country inviting their correspondents to visit certain cities, naming the hotel at which they should stop, and offering them great inducements to purchase. Those who go after such bargains never obtain counterfeit money, and seldom return home without leaving all their good money in the hands of these plausible but dangerous men. Another practice is to corx on their victims by sending a gomine $1 or $2 note, or parts of the same, and representing them to be spectures of the counterfeit notes they have for sale. Those who have counterfeiten the superfect to note the same, and representing them to be spectures of the counterfeiter to money for sale. Those who have counterfeiter to monet for sale and not write letters requesting strangers to buy it. Even after the introduction of a new man by one counterfeiter to another it takes a long time to establish such friendly relations as would induce a counterfeiter to trust a new comer. Yet thousands of criminally-foolish people believe they can purchase counterfeit money as they would any other goods, and in their attempt to obtain it are robbed. The crime of which the "boodler" is guilty is that of obtaining money under fulse pretenses, an offense of which state statutes only take cognizance, and over which United States courts have no jurisdiction. It is next to impossible to obtain legal evidence against these swindlers, and were one of them arrested and brought to trial the testinony of the main witness would be weakened by the fact that he would have been a criminal if he could. are sent by thousands all over the President Arthur's Vote.

New York, Cet. 19.—A stalwart man in blue leaned against a wooden Indian in front of No. 402 Third avenue, at 6500 hast evening, lazily swinging a club. Upon the other side of the Indian hung the legend "Registry of Voters." Indian hing the togend "Registry of Yoters." A moment later a carriago rolled up. The door was thing open, and a portly man of dignified mien, attirod in a closely buttoned Prince Albert coat, a full overcoat, and high bat, alighted. He gave his residence as No. 123 Lexington avenue. The place in the books had already been found by the cager clerks. "Name?" Name?

"Chester A. Arthur."
The clerks omitted to shout "what's that," "How long have you lived in the district?"
"Lighteen years."
"Native of the United States?"

"Native of the Office States:
"Yes,"
"That is all, Mr. President."
"Thank you," said the partly gentleman as he patted a little girl on the head, who had been looking up at him with open eyes. Then he said "good morning," entered his carriage, and was driven eff. The president had registered.

MARIE PRESCOTT.

The Scandalous Libel Suit Drawing to an End.

Arguments by Counsel Reviewing the Shameless Disclosures of the Case.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The testimony and the arguments in the Marie Prescott suit for libel against the Americal News company are closed. In the course of the arguments Judge Fullerton, for the defendant, said: "The company had no knowledge of the libel complained of in this suit. They do not," said he, "write; they do not publish; they are ignorant of the contents of the papers that they send out as you or I. I admit that the law holds them liable, but it is a law which had its origin away back in the dark ages. What did the company do? As soon as they found that they had unwittingly sold a paper containing a libel, they promptly discontinued its sale. The author of this libel was known. There is no doubt about that. It was this boy of 17 who calls himself the editor. You may imagine what a magnificant paper it must have been to pretend to criticise dramatic performances with this boy for its editor. No one can shot his eyes to the fact that the sympathies of the public are with this woman, and in one aspect of the case it is a credit to the people that they donounce the conduct of a men who enjoys the favors of a woman and then betrays her. There is something disgusting and requisive in this, something in the human mind which abhors a namike that, and I do not stand here as the apologist of Ernest Harvier; but there are some facts which stand out in justification. He was but 17 years old. He ought to have been field to his methor's apron-string instead of being sold a paper containing a libel, they promptly

Mr. Stafford, in his argument for Miss Prescott, said the answer of the Nows company contained far more libels than any in the newspaper article, and therefore it did not do for them to say that they were not responsible for the libel. Those charges were not made by Harvier, but were sworn to by Sinclair Tousey, the object being to frighten the plaintiff out of court "None of the charges made in their bill of particulars," said the counsel, "have been proved; and they shall not make a scapage of Ermost Harvier, for their charges are far more infantous than any that be has made. The worst charge of all was made when they charges of William Purzell, her husband, who has stood by her mentally, day after day, until the mental strain has thrown him upon a bod of sickness."

RUNAWAY TRAIN.

A Freight Train on a Down Grade Becomes Unmanageable --- A Smash-Up, and the Engineer Injured. Cincinnati, Oct. 18,—Shortly after 12 o'clock to-day a freight train on the Cincinnati Northorn narrow-gauge railway became unmanageable while descending a steep grade on the last two miles of the track within the city limits, and ran at an increasing speed until checked and ran at an increasing speed until checked by running into an empty passenger car and engine standing on the end of the track at the depot or Court street. The two engines and the passenger car were pushed across the street and budly wracked. The freight cars were uninjured. Engineer Sol Durham re-mained on ine engine, bravely trying to check the speed of the train until within 200 feet of Court street, when he jumped and was seri-ensly hurt, his shoulder being crushed. The other men on the train jumped off without injury.

Canada's Moving Mountain.

More interesting still, and even grand, rock-paved bays, whose gradually shealing margins afford rare bathing grounds, East and West Lakes, each five miles long, and the latter dotted with islands, are separated from Lake Ontario by narrow strips of beach. Over the two mile wide isthmus separating the little lakes, the sand banks, whose glistening heights are visible miles away, are approached. On near approach they are hidden by order weeks till the readers. ccdar woods, till the roadway in front is barred by the advancing bank, to avoid which a roadway through the woods has been constructed up to the eastern end of the sand range. The sand banks stretch: like a crescent along the shore, the concave side turned to the lake, along which it leaves a pebbly beach. The length of the crescent is over two miles the width 600 to 3,000 or 4,000 feet. If the distant view, or the steep, white front of the banks advancing and over-whelming the cedar wood, and the grainfields, is grand, the view from the top of the range is doubly so; it rivals Niag-

Clambering up the steep end of the range among trees and grape-vines, the wooded summit is gained at an elevation of nearly 150 feet. Passing along the top, the woods soon disappear, and was presented in a wild waste of deliwe emerge on a wild waste of delicately-tinted saffron, rising from the slate-colored beach in gentle undulation, and sleepily falling on the other side down to green pastures and into the cedar woods. The whole surface of this gradually undulating mountain desert is ribbed by little wavelets a few inches apart, but the greener aspect is one of ribbed by little wavelets a few inches apart, but the general aspect is one of perfect smoothness. The sand is almost as fine as flour, and contains no admixture of dust. The foot sinks only an inch or two in walking over it; children roll about on it and down its slopes, and rising shake themselves till their clothing loses every trace of sand. Occasionally gusts stream over the wild waste, raising a dense drift to a height of a foot or two only, and streaming like a fringe over the steep northern edge. Though the sun is blazing down on the glistening wilderness, there is little sensation of heat, wilderness, there is little sensation of heat, for the cool lake breeze is ever blowing. On the landward side the insidious ap-proach of the devouring sand is well marked. One hundred and fifty feet below the foot of this moving mountain is sharply defined against the vivid green of the pastures, on which the grass grows luxuriantly to within an inch of the sandwall. The ferns of the cedar woods almost drop against the sandy slope. The roots of the trees are bare along the white edge; a foot or two nearer and the sand buries the feet of the cedars; a few yards nearer still the bare trunks disappear; nearer still the bare trunks disappear; still nearer only the withered topmost twigs of the submerged forest are seen, and then, far over the tree-tops, stands the sand range. Perpetual ice is found under the foot of this steep slope, the sand covering and consolidating the snows drifted over the hill during the winter months. There is something awe-inspiring in the slow, quiet but awe-inspiring in the slow, quiet, but resistless advance of the mountain front. Field and forest alike become completely submerged. Ten years ago a farm house was swallowed up, not to emerge into the light until the huge sand wave has passed over.—Picton Cor. Toronto Globe.

French Madhouses and Their Victims.

The sensation of the hour in Paris is the case of Jean Mistral, who has been forty-two years in the private lunatic asylum of St. Remy, in Provence. He was, it is now admitted all round, of sound mind when his father, on a doctor's certificate and in virtue of the law of 1838, locked him up there. His reason for incarcerating his son was to prevent his remarry-ing a Polish lady whom, in good faith he had married abroad. The marriage ceremony, on the petition of the elder Mistral, had been set aside by a French tribunal because there had been insufficient other formulities me scribed by the code had not been observed. Old Mistral was a very wealthy manufacturer of jet and beads. He wanted his only son to heap fortune upon wanted his only son to heap fortune upon fortune in marrying the heiressof a Marseilles shipowner. The Polish lady was very beautiful, of honorable life, but poor, and she had been obliged to turn an enthralling voice to mercantile account by singing in theatres and at concerts. Jean Mistral was taking steps to marry her according to French law, when his father one day ran against him in the his father one day ran againsthim in the high street of Tarascon in the year 1840, and cried out to a couple of policemen who were with him to arrest the madman.

The son made a desperate fight for his liberty, and soldiers were called in. He was subjugated, and sont off manacled to an asylum near Montpellier, where he still is. The fact that he resisted la force weathlear weathlean as confirmation of the publique was taken as confirmation of the doctor's lettre de cachet or certificate, and he was treated for raging lunacy. Old Mistral died soon after. The fortune that he made in glass trinkets went equally to the captive at Montpellier and to his sister Mme. Baruard. As it was a to his sister Mme. Barnard. As it was a great one, the Barnards kept the alleged madman in durance. His wife (the Polish woman, who in law was no wife) died when he had been a score of years locked up. Her daughter, after an interval of six monthe, followed her to the grave. Old Mistral had caused the former to be expelled from France on the ground that she was a bad character, was disturbing the peace of a respectable. was disturbing the peace of a respectable and rich family, and had no visible means of existence. Technically she was a vagabond, as she was reduced to go from one small town to another to cafes. Soon after she was turned out of France she gave birth to a daughter in Switzerland. Mother and child died in extreme poverty some years later.

The news of their death threw the The news of their death threw the prisoner in the asylum into a state of frenzy. The fortune inherited by Jean Mistral from his father has gone on accumulating at a simple and compound interest, and has been very carefully nursed by the Barnards, who are his theirs apparent. M. Fournier, who has been exerting himself to get the lunatic released from the asylum is his first released from the asylum, is his first cousin. According to an article in the Civil Code, a rich madman or madwoman is not to be confined in a madhouse, but placed under treatment at home, and is to be provided with a domestic establishment corresponding with his or her yearly revenue. Mistral is an ordinary boarder at the asylum, where he has passed nearly half a century, and is allowed one mun-servant, whose business is not to minister to his comfort, but to prevent him escaping.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Municipal Court.

In the municipal court this morning James Smith plead guilty to the charge of goods to secure one. No. 3 South of being implicated in a gambling house and was fined fifteen dollars and costs. The case of the state vs. M. E. Waite, on the charge of keeping a gambling house, was adjourned to October 21st, the defendant giving bail in the sum of Warrants have been issued for the arrests of John Kelly and Frank Richards, implicated in the above affair.

A portion of the afternoon was occupied with a case from Clmton, that of J. B. Smith vs. J. W. Mayo, George Lavingston, Charles Wright and M. H. Colby, which was continued until Monday next. Chas. Pierce appearing for plaintiff and William Smith, for defendents.

Brigg's Operatic Minstrets.

The above troups will occupy Lappin's nall on Monday evening next, and come highly recommended by the press of the eastern cities. The Teledo Bee, of September 18th, speaking of the appearance of the troupe in that city, says:

The Academy of Music was re-opened last night by Brigg's Operatic Minstrels, There was a good house. The performance was pleasing and the singing of the electric quartette was very good indeed. The singers were recalled several times. The jig dancing of Carmody and Mack also elicted much applause. The Mack also elicted much applause. The old timor, N. B. Shimer, convinced the audionce that he had not lost his ancient cuoning; Frank West's stamp speech was decidedly good, and the acrobatic song and dance and burlesque circus were respectively very good and very funuy. Altogether the opening of the season at the Academy may be said to have been sufficiently successful. The minstrels will give another performance this even-Premature grayness avoided by using Parker's Hair Balsam, distinguished for its cleanliness and perfame.

After Law-Breakers

Marshal Hogan is making it rather too hot just now for the thieves and gamblers who occasionally visit Janesville, having already several cases before the munici. pal court, to which he added another to the calendar last night. While the peaceable and law-abiding portion of our citizens were enjoying their quiet slumbers Marshal Hogan was vigilantly on guard duty on Main street. Some days ago he made the discovery that a gambling room was in full operation in the Jonneault block, and near twelve o'clock last night, when he was satisfied the game was in full operation, he called Deputy Sheriff Skavlem to his aid, and demanded admission to the room. Being refused, he forced an entrance, and found the gaming table, cards and card chips being handled by four persons, the fifth, the occupant of the room having retired. He arrested and jailed M. E. Waite, the occupant of the den, and a stranger giving his name as James Smith. The others being well k nown to the officers, were allowed to go to their respective homes, as the marshal can put his hands upon them at any moment. The room in which the gambling was carried on was elegantly furnished, -There was considerable grain and and contained the necessary implements the marshal took into his possession. This morning Smith appeared before the municipal court, plead guilty, and was assessed fifteen dollars and costs, which he paid.

The action against the other parties will follow, when the result will be recorded in the Gazette.

THE BEPUBLICAN RALLY.

Lappin's Hall Crowded Last Nightthe Address of Hen. Chartes G. Williams.

The republicans of the city turned out in goodly numbers last night, at Lappin's music hall, to hear Hon. C. G. Williams, the republican candidate for congress, and at an early hour the ball was crowded with a first-class audience of ladies and gentlemen. The meeting was presided over by Hon, James Sutherland, and the stage was occupied by many of our older citizens, who have always acted in harmony with the republican party. After music by the Bower City Band, the speaker was introduced by the chairman. Mr. Williams alluded to the personal attacks made against him by his opponents, especially by those who now call themselves the independent republicans. He occupied about an hour and a half in explaining his actions, in anand position swering the charges made against him by those who originated the Delavan independent movement, not forgetting to allude, at length, to that portion who reside in this city, and the part he and they took in the senatorial contest of last win-

The speaker went through and explained the war record of the independent caudidate for congress in this district, quoting from the records of that day showing that the candidate of the independents was in hearty sympathy and support of the anti-war party. He concluded his remarks on this point by saying that he himself beard and saw his opponent candidate appland C. L. Vallandingham in the Chicago peace convention of '63, and could prove that it was true.

Mr. Williams then brought up the "river and harbor steal," as he called it, and explained his vote for that measure. He said that all but a little over a million dollars of the $19,000,000 contained in that bill was for the completion of work already commenced, while less than two millions was for new work, and that not one dollar of this vast sum of money could be expended without an order the secretary of war and chief of engineers of the army, He argued at great length on this "steal," and quoted many leading senators and members of congress, to sustain his action in voting for the bill; showing how it cheapened transportation, claiming that the one item of the Fox river in this state, saved the people of Wisconsin twenty-five hundred dollars in the transportation of one year's supply of fuel to the northern asylum for the insane, besides benefiting the inhabitants of the Fox valley many thousands, in lessening transportation rates. The improvement of our great waterways and our extended sea coast, meant cheap transportation, by rail as well as by water,—it created a lively competition in transportation. Our sea coast was greater than that of any of the monarchical governments of Europe yet we expended less for our improvements. This bill must become a law, or all the works would be stopped and the materials on hand sold, and the government would, in the end, lose more money than the amount named in the bill. The speaker emphatically denied voting for the so-called Garüeld funeral whisky bill, and explained the Yorktown matter. In fact he went over the entire ground of the charges of his opponents, and closed his long address with an eloquent peroration, alluding to his recent visit to Winnipeg and the great grain growing region of the west, and the rapid developement of this country by its extension of the trunk lines of railways. He also alluded to the railroad facilities of our own city. It was after eleven o'clock when the speaker closed his address, and his friends felt satisfied that he had made a masterly effort in vindicating his course while m congress, and the issues which divide the political parties. The meeting closed with three cheers for the speaker.

Thanks, We, the undersigned, hereby tender our heartfelt thanks to those friends who have so kindly assisted us, through the long and fatal illness of our beloved husband and father. May their sorrows be few, and their joys great in their pathway through life.

Passing the Rubicon.

"How did you come to recognize the prisoner at that distance?" asked the counsel for the defense. "I recognized him by his Roman nose."

"Do you call the prisoner's nose a Roman nose?" continued the lawyer, pointing to the nose of the prisoner, which was rather of the tip tilted order.

"Yes, I call that a Roman nose." Hasn't it passed the rubicund?"—Texas Siftings,

MAMMOTH STORE

J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS

Auticipating a large trade we have bought one of the largest and best stock of goods over introduced into Southern Wisconsin, which will be sold at prices that will be popular with all the people. Read and note every word and if we do not do just as we say we will, call ourselves no l dry goods men and do not buy one dollar's worth. Our first article we place before you that we call very cheap is one case of all wool Camelette which we place upon our counters at 50 cents per yard, former price 70 to 80 cents. These goods are all wool in all the new shades, and for a genteel dress at a low price there are no goods in the market to compare with them. They are 40 inches wide. We place upon our counter 20 pieces of American Colored Silk, at $1.25, this is the best value known for the money. And in Black Silks we beat the entire party. We will give you Black Silks for 8, 10 and 12 shillings, never before known for the money. An examination of this department will verify the fact. In Black and Colored Cashmeres we are without a rival in Rock county, so say all the ladies who have seen them. In Cheap Dress Goods we have ten cases in all the new shades which we are seiling from 61/4 to 121/4 cents. This is very cheap, a great many of the dark colors are much better for comfortables than any cheap print, and wear much longer. Ladies Cloths and Flannels we have an endless variety and sell them all at low In Cloaks and Shawls we have the largest variety ever shown by us, and far superior to any stock this side of Chi-

In Velv and Cloth Shawls we have beautiful line. Call and see them, ladies. In White Bed Blankets we have a beau. iful stock and all cheap.

We have one case of the celebrated Eagle and Phonix Cotton Bed Blankets, far superior to Wool and at much less price. We will sell you the 114 Blanket for $5.00, as good value as any $8.00 Wool Blanket in the market. Call in and see the novelty and it will please you.

in large variety and at popular prices. 1,000 dozen Linen Towels cheap, and good. We will sell you the best 25 cent Towel in the United States.

Ladies' and Children's Underwear We absolutely stand without rival in this department. Our 50 cent Ladies' Vest is simply grand. In gentlemen's Underwear we stand far shead of our competitors. Our 50 cent and one dollar Yest cannot fail to please you every time. Our Ladies' Clothe and Ulster Cloth are simply splendid. The line that we bought at the great closing sale of A. T. Stewart's, are selling rapidly, and at prices far below any goods offered in the State. Give this line a look and you will be more than suited. Our Flannel Department is filled with lesirable goods; Red, Grey, Blue, White and all fancy colors, for ladies' and children's wear, and at popular prices. Our Glove and Hosiery department the best we ever had and at prices truly surprising. Our nine cent Hose, a wonder to everybody. We received to-day 50 dozen of Hose at one shilling, that lead the van. Our two and three shilling Wool Hose are the best ever offered. It surprises ourselves to think we can give you as good an article for the money in this line as we can. Do not fail to see Our Lace Department, full and replete with good and cheap goods. Our Carpet stock full with all the new novelties. We have the only genuine Auxminster Moquette Carpet in the city. In this we will refer you to any carpet house in the United States. Oilcloth, Linoleum and Store Rugs, in large variety, all at popular prices. Respectfully yours, J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS.
